Trick or Treat!

It was no trick. It was a great treat to see young Democracy in action on Halloween night. It was a great treat to be privileged to help by helping to the cause of the distressed people, and in the doing and in the giving to remember our many blessings.

Margaret Adshad sallied forth with a pint milk bottle, and came home with $16.95 for the Red Cross.

Ruth Newton ($3.65) and Robert Hall ($1.50) touched Main Street to the extent of ($5.05) in aid of the Milk for Britain Fund.

Thanks a million, young people, for your kindly thoughtfulness.

Write Thanks For Cigarettes

The cigarettes that are being sent to the boys overseas are being appreciated as evidenced by the letters that have been received by the secretary of the Didsbury and District Tobacco Fund.

The following is a sample of the letters received:

Didsbury and District Tobacco Fund Committee and Supporters,

Dear Friends:

Many thanks for cigarettes received yesterday. It's real swell of you Didsbury folk to support us this way. They came just in the nick of time as I was on the last package, but usually some of the boys have cigarettes and they are good enough to lend until ours come in. We do okay as far as smoking is concerned, thanks to the Didsbury organizations.

I expect there isn't many young fellows left in the district, is there?

At present we are attached to the R.C.E.'s for driving on a big construction job. We like it much better than hanging around our own headquarters. At least we know what we are doing from one day to another. We also get more privileges, that is, we get a forty eight hour pass every other weekend as well as our seven day leaves.

I suppose this writing room will be closing soon as it is eleven thirty so I'd better sign off, hoping to have a line from any body at Didsbury. Thank you again for the smokes

Yours Truly,
Pte. Hardbattile O.
M50204

Letters have also been received from the following, acknowledging receipt of smokes:

E. L. Dedels, A. F. Baudistal, P. L. Frasca, A. Brusso, G. A. Ford, D. McDonald, P. Dyck, J. A. Booker, N. Gregory, Tom Clarke, E. A. Dedels, L. S. Cipperley, G. Gerlitz, A. C. Cunningham, Gordon Cresman, W. Devolin, J. Garner, Leon, Grace, Wallace Hughes, E. Heine, J. Jarman, R. C. Carleton, O. Hardbattile, D. Hardbattile, Sandy Cuthness.

Didsbury Again Goes Over Top!

Didsbury attained its quota of $39,000.00 in the 3rd Victory Loan Campaign, on Tuesday, and the Comandó Dagger has been sent to the Provincial Headquarters, and the pennant has been received signifying that the objective had been reached.

That does not mean that the efforts of the local committee have slowed down. They are out to sell as many bonds as they can, and, if possible, to earn another pennant by selling 25 pc. more than the quota.

It is known that quite a number intend to call at the Unit Headquarters or the Bank to make bond purchases and they are urged to do so before the campaign closes, on Saturday night.

Remember "Nothing matters now but Victory!"

Teachers and Pupils At Calgary Convention

All the teachers on the Didsbury School Staff were in attendance at the Teachers' Convention held in Calgary on Thursday and Friday of last week.

Two of the Didsbury teachers gave papers before the convention.

Miss Aylesworth spoke on the adaptation of the Integrate program in Rural High Schools, and Miss Bea, Kendrick gave a paper on Teaching Art in Elementary Schools. Miss Kendrick was assisted by 12 of her pupils who demonstrated on the platform as an art class.

Ranger Girls Tea

The Ranger Girl Guides Group held a successful Halloween Tea Saturday last, October 31.

During the tea hour, Mrs. Earl Cummins and a ladies trio, the Misses Bowman, Fawcett and Buhr, entertained.

A neat sum of money was realized from the tea, which is to be used for uniform material for the Rangers.

Draw for Food Hamper

The draw for food hampers which was sponsored by the Junior Committee of the Red Cross, was made Saturday night at Studer's store. Mr. J. Bukoniski, who happened to be in the store at the time, was asked to make the draw.

The winners were E. G. Ranton and Mrs. L. Berscht.

Two baskets were raffled and the proceeds amounted to $18.10

Remembrance Day Doings

GRACIE FIELDS and No. 37 R.A.F. ORCHESTRA, will, under the auspices of the Canadian Legion, entertain on Remembrance Day evening.

By special arrangement, the Legion presents Gracie in her picture "SMILING ALONG", at the Didsbury Opera House, Wednesday, 11th inst., at 8:30 p.m. Usual picture show admission prices.

GRAND DANCE after the show, with R.A.F. Orchestra. Admission 50c per person.

COME ALL! Old and young alike.

POPPIES . . .

The sale of poppies and wreaths is being undertaken by the Legion as usual at this Remembrance time.

The poppies and wreaths are made by crippled veterans in the Vet-craft shops. By giving as much as you can spare for these tokens of remembrance, you assist the veterans who have suffered so much for us all.

Remembrance Day is not a Dominion Holiday this year. In our struggle for existence and independence, time is too precious. It is expected, however, that everyone will observe the two minutes silence. It is not a meaningless ritual, but a general thanksgiving and prayer for help in the stupendous task of holding the Torch of Civilization very high.

Members of the Legion who can be spared from their work will at 11:00 a.m. observe the silence at the Monument on the Butte, and lay thereon the wreath of poppies in remembrance of their fallen comrades. Friends are very welcome to be with them.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The members of the W.C.T.U. will hold their Guest Day at the home of Mrs. C. J. Hallman, on Thursday, November 12, at 3 p.m.

Mrs. Fawcett the local President and who attended the Provincial Convention which was held at Edmonton, will give a report of the year's activities. Musical numbers and other items of interest will be given.

Weddings.

DEDELS — NEILSON

The Didsbury M.B.C. Church was the scene of a pretty wedding, Wednesday, November 4, when Clara Augusta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Nielson, of Acadia Valley, Alberta, became the bride of Lance Corporal Gordon Wayne Dedels, son of Mr. A. Dedels and the late Mrs. Dedels, of Didsbury. Rev. V. K. Snyder officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a slipper-length gown of triple sheer, with bishop sleeves and sheer waistline. Her flowing veil of embroidered silk net was halo style. Her bouquet was of American Beauty roses with white ribbon streamers. Her only ornament was a gold locket, a gift from the groom.

Miss Erma Mae Neilson, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, wore pink taffeta with matching floral muff. Attending also was Miss Marjorie Thede and Mrs. Richard Pollock as matron of honor, both frocked in pink sheer, with matching floral muffs.

Little Miss Evelyn Neilson, as flower-girl, wore a yellow taffeta frock and carried a basket of yellow and white chrysanthemums.

Mr. Richard Pollock acted as best man and Messrs. Ian Stauffer and Alfred Snyder were ushers. Wedding marches were played by Miss Gladys Eby. Preceding the ceremony, Mr. Ward Sherrick sang "Because", and during the signing of the register, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Eby sang, "Only Thy Will".

A reception to sixty guests was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Stauffer, which was beautifully decorated with pink and white streamers and sheaves of gardenias. The bride's table was centred with a tiered wedding cake flanked with tall white tapers. Mrs. Neilson, mother of the bride, chose a frock of Airforce blue with burgundy accessories. Her corsage was red roses.

Serviteurs were Misses Hazel Eby, Marion and Edith Sherrick, Doris Salmon, Clara Pollock, and Ruby Lemke.

Le-Cpl and Mrs. Dedels left for a short honeymoon at Armada, Alberta. For travelling Mrs. Dedels chose a rose dress with navy topcoat and matching accessories.

Le-Cpl and Mrs. Dedels will reside at Angus, Ontario, near Camp Borden, where the groom is stationed.

For all lines of winter underwear, you will get best values at Scott's.

Sharing With England

IN RECENT MONTHS Canadians have begun to experience many of the difficulties caused by the shortage of food and other items important to our way of living. Rationing so far as not been used for many commodities, but in spite of this, the standard of living in most Canadian homes has changed in the past months. These changes have caused some inconvenience, but no real hardship, and for the most part have been cheerfully accepted. We are still able to live comfortably, and even though our purchasing is curtailed we can sit down to bountiful meals and we have fuel, warm clothing and other things essential to health and comfort. Most of us believe that there is still much we could give up, should the necessity arise.

British People Remain Fit

It would be well for us here to remember at all times that many of the shortages we encounter are due to shipment of material to England. Others are due to the fact that ships normally used to bring imported commodities to Canada, are now transporting materials of war. In England, the people are commencing the fourth year of the war. That they are physically fit, and able to carry on their gigantic undertakings is in great measure because of the efficiency and imagination of the Food Minister, Lord Woolton, and his staff. It is said that an uneasy stomach will soon set a man grumbling, and there are few people in England who are not thankful for the way in which their national larder has been stocked and shared. In 1939 England imported over fifty per cent. of her food, some of it from countries now occupied by the Axis, yet by a tremendous re-organization of supply and distribution it has been possible to keep the British people adequately fed during the war years.

Praise For Food Ministry

In a publication issued recently by the British Ministry of Information it was stated that this has been accomplished through the far-sighted policy and organization of the British Ministry of Food, and the generous help of the Dominions and the United States, who have made their own sacrifices to send food to Britain. It further states that because of this the people of England will turn to the offensive "fighting fit". When we consider what the shipment of essential materials from here mean to the people of Britain, we can be proud that we can share with them in the sacrifices necessary to the winning of the war.

YUGOSLAVIA'S ARMY

Hitler, so it is reported, is determined to put a stop to the operations of Yugoslavia's guerilla armies. In view of the fact that such resistance is said to be tying up no fewer than 375,000 Germans, Italians, Bulgarians and Hungarians who are badly needed elsewhere, his resolve may be easily understood.

LONG VOYAGE

A New York newspaper recalls that 100 years ago the corvette, St. Louis, arrived at Norfolk after a voyage lasting three years and 79 days, sailing 75,000 geographical miles. The modern meaning of a corvette is very different, but a corvette was originally a small sailing ship without a quarter-deck.

The Individual Citizen's Army

A Weekly Column About This And That In Our Canadian Army.

By Alan Maurice Irwin

Where is that man who referred to me and other writers who look things in the face as "you alarmists"? I'd like to take him on a little motor trip—to the Gaspé Peninsula!

That is to say I'd like to take him for that trip but for one thing—it would be a shame to waste gasoline on him. And motor trips are out—except for the nannies with their heads buried in the sand who still run their cars, "just for a little jaunt on Sundays."

"A little jaunt on Sundays." We are fighting a people who would shoot them for that. So, just because we are not a people who shoot amateur traitors, they blithely disregard signs that even the dullest common man can read, squander life-saving gasoline, wear out badly needed rubber and complacently increase the spread of the only portion of their anatomy ever likely to be impaled upon a German or Japanese bayonet.

Some of them, on the long, strategic road that follows the St. Lawrence even drive with their headlights full on after dark.

And all this, mind you, after the news has been released that enemy submarines have been active in the Gulf of St. Lawrence!

A black-out has been ordered on the banks of the River St. Lawrence and extending five miles inward.

This has not been done for fun, it has been done because lights on shore enable a navigator to make his way to the point he desires to reach and equally because lights on the shore silhouette any vessel—even a little fishing boat—between the shore and an enemy raider.

So you see this has not been done for fun. It has been ordered because Canada, whether we like to admit it or not, is in the war zone. It has been ordered because lives have been lost on the broad bosom of the mighty waterway, the banks of which Lady Bessborough once described as "arms that reach out to welcome visitors to Canada." There are some visitors Canada does not welcome—hence the need for a black-out.

Shortly after the black-out was ordered, indignant complaints reached the authorities that it was not complete. The answer to this was fairly simple. Many of the farmers living in the country surrounding the river do not read the newspapers, do not listen to radio and did not understand how close the war has come to Canada's shores. They understand now because the authorities quickly devised a plan for notifying every villager, every farmer, of the black-out order and of the reasons for it and the necessity for its observance.

The foregoing paragraph, however, grant no absolution to the motorists who drove along the highway with their headlights on, headlights that, everytime the road rounded a cape pointed out like twin searchlights across the black waters of the gulf. These were just careless—if so criminal a disregard for the lives of Canadians afloat for the protection of Canada can be called careless—motorists who thought more of their own safety and more of the silly "necessity" for speed that would not permit them to dim their lights and proceed at a pace calculated not only to assist the war effort by maintaining the darkness but also to assist it by conserving tires and gasoline.

And it is not only in the black-out areas that such "careless" motorists mar the otherwise bright pages that Canada is writing in the history of these awful war years.

On the Sunday preceding Thanksgiving Day and on Thanksgiving Day itself, you saw for yourself streams of private automobiles that choked the highways surrounding the larger cities. What you thought about it I can guess. What I thought about it, no newspaper can print.

Apparently such selfishness is something that only public opinion applied privately can remedy.

This column, the forty-second, that has appeared in these pages, brings to an end the series known as The Individual Citizen's Army. It comes to an end because this individual citizen no longer will have the time to write a column a week. As a matter of fact, under King's Regulations and Orders governing the Canadian Army, he will not have permission to write for publication, because this "old sweat" puts on the uniform again with "Canada" on his shoulders to enable a younger man, who is fit, to move on to one of the fronts on which we all are sure the Canadian Army will soon again victoriously take up the torch thrown to it by falling hands a quarter of a century ago.

Good luck, Alan! You have done a good job for Canada with your column, "The Individual Citizen's Army". You have told us what we needed to know—it has been quite a task for you and we all appreciated your writings. Sorry you can't keep it up but we're doubly proud that you'll wear the uniform again. May all good fortune go with you—you're a real citizen—Editor.

Here's Quick Relief from SINUS PAIN

3-Purpose Medicine Helps Clear Out Congested Sinus Areas

ONE best way to get relief from torturing sinus pain is to clear congestion from nasal passages and give sinuses a chance to drain. A few drops of Vicks Va-tro-nol in each nostril is usually enough to bring this comforting relief.

Va-tro-nol is so successful because it does three important things: (1) shrinks swollen membranes of the nose; (2) helps clear out pain-causing congestion and (3) soothes irritation. Many sinus sufferers say it's the best relief they've found. Try it!

DEPLOPING RUMORS

George W. Spinney, in deploring the rumors that are spread to harm Canada's war effort and urging that these be promptly scotched, defines rumors as usually being nothing more than somebody with big ears listening to somebody with a big mouth. Those are unflattering categories in which no intelligent or loyal person wishes to be included. The point is obvious.

How soon can WE end this War?

This is the people's war... it is our war. Each and everyone of us must contribute our utmost to help speed the day of Victory!

If we fail in our duty to lend to the limit, we help make this war last longer.

Let us resolve to back the new Victory Loan to the utmost of our ability. We, on the home front, must strain every fibre that our fighting men may have overwhelming superiority in arms and equipment to crush our still powerful enemies. The dollars we lend NOW will make this possible sooner.

Many Canadian Soldiers Overseas Taking Advantage Of Opportunity Offered To Increase Education

THOUSANDS of Canadian soldiers in camp and billet overseas are going back to school. In a few rare cases the education they brought with them into the army may have been confined to a couple of years at a country school; in others it may have embraced a university degree. That doesn't matter. There's an opportunity for everyone, regardless of the measure of his learning, to increase the compass of his knowledge or the breadth of his background.

The Canadian Army's educational program in Britain is administered by the Canadian Legion, and three men have the most to do with it. They are Dr. A. E. Shatwin, one-time Saskatchewan school principal, director of education; Douglas V. Le Pan, University of Toronto graduate and former Harvard lecturer in English, who is personal advisor on education to Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, and Max Freedman, former Edmonton newspaperman, advisor on education to Canadian Military Headquarters.

You will find Canadian soldiers taking correspondence courses, going back to simple arithmetic and reading and writing in "basic training classes," learning trades in technical schools near where their units are based, preparing to pass general knowledge tests for acceptance as officer cadets, and sitting under learned lecturers in the halls of Oxford and London Universities.

For instance, a fellow may want to pass a supplementary in grade 10 mathematics. He applies for a series of exercises, studies in his own time, and writes an examination which is marked by officials of Battersea Polytechnic in London. If he passes, he gets credit at his school back home. In the past three months pass certificates have been awarded 169 students in subjects ranging from elementary trigonometry to Latin, and in the same period 2,578 men have submitted a total of 3,878 exercises leading to examination. Courses are set in both French and English for any subject up to and including senior matriculation. There's no cost to the student.

The technical classes are regarded by the army as highly important. They aim at the same time to increase a man's army efficiency and his civilian skill. For instance, a man may wish to augment his knowledge as a motor mechanic, a knowledge of value both to the man and the army. He gets a chance at instruction on Sunday under teachers from the nearest civilian technical school, or a unit may release a non-commissioned officer to handle such instruction.

The first two weeks school for soldiers going to officer cadet training units has just been completed. Every candidate for acceptance at such a unit has to pass a general knowledge test. The examination is simple, but some of these fighters haven't written an examination in 10 years. The class is designed to give them the classroom atmosphere.

Last summer officers and men taking their seven-day leaves were given a chance to attend special lectures, mainly on history, background and future of Britain at Oxford and London universities. There were, too, "brain trust" discussions at which groups of men were chosen to give their views impromptu on various questions, in the presence of their fellows and visitors such questions as: "If Mr. Churchill reigns tomorrow, who ought to be the next prime minister?" and "Is Canada more like England or more like the United States?"

Lady Tweedsmuir was hostess at the Oxford lectures, and among the lecturers were such men as Sir William Beveridge, economic advisor to the government; Prof. Gilbert Murray, Sir Richard Livingstone, president of Corpus Christi College, and Dr. A. D. Lindsay, master of Balliol. The lectures were all held at Christ Church, of which the dean is John Lowe, formerly of Trinity College, Toronto.

Midway through the courses in the summer Oxford became so pleased with the result that it was decided to invite Allied nations to send representatives as well, and Poles, Czechs, and United States fighting men may be mingling with the Canadians when the courses resume this fall.

Send Your Dollars To War.

Cares For Seamen

He Manages The Merchant Seamen's Home In Halifax

Clifford N. Taylor, a big, genial chap, is something new in the line of godmothers. His charges are those cinderellas of the salty byways—merchant seamen. As manager of the Allied Merchant Seamen's Home in Halifax—a super hostel run by the Navy League of Canada for the comfort of civilian sailors—he is responsible for the welfare of the men who bring the innumerable freighters and tankers and transports into Halifax. And that means anything from several hundred to several thousand a day. It's a big order, keeping Englishmen, Americans, Canadians, Chinese, Hindus, Moslems and Lascars living under the same roof as one happy family, but he does it. For them he is employment agency, adviser, policeman and nurse, and he likes his multi-dutied job. "This is my part in the war effort," he said, "and it is something I am trained to do."

He is too, as welfare work has been Mr. Taylor's hobby almost since the time he arrived in Montreal with his family from England some 31 years ago. Soon after arriving he was doing community work for the Y.M.C.A. and for seven years worked and studied along these lines. Then, shipping as a fireman, he served for a year in a freighter on the Canada-Australia run. But he returned to Montreal, and became supervisor of what was the most original social experiment of the depression era—the Montreal day shelter for unemployed men. With the outbreak of war he moved to Halifax as a telegraph censor, but when the big, new seamen's home went up, he was only too glad to move in as manager.

When Visiting

Don't Forget To Bring Your Own Tea And Sugar

"Bring your tea, coffee and sugar with you" should be a motto adopted by all Canadians these days. Suitcases are not enough to go visiting with—ration cards should be taken along too, if the visit is to last longer than a couple of days.

Week-end guests will be doubly welcome if they bring a small contribution of sugar, tea and coffee from their own rations to add to their host's supplies.

One ounce of tea a week or four ounces of coffee isn't a great deal to get along on, and families who do much cooking find half-a-pound of sugar per person per week barely adequate. No one these days has very much of these commodities to share with anyone else.

Islands In The Pacific That Appear And Disappear Are A Great Worry To Map Makers

IN PAYING tribute to the heroic nature of United States submarine work in the Aleutian seas, an American radio correspondent, Upton Close, related that several years ago he travelled through the Aleutian chain with a Japanese captain. "We ran smack into an area," he continued, "which showed clear sea on the chart—Japanese chart, too, and the Japanese were the only navigators who had up-to-date charts—but instead of clear sea, a mountain of rock loomed up through boiling water and steam. As the vessel carefully circumnavigated the new island the island began to sink, and soon it had disappeared."

Tommy: "With the age of the Apostles."

Suitor: "Sir, I would like to marry your daughter."

Father: "Young man, do you drink?"

Suitor: "Thanks, but let's get this other matter settled first."

The newly-married couple were just leaving the registrar's office when the wife remembered she had registered her age as a year older than she actually was.

"Oh, never mind," replied her husband, "you'll get the audit age pension a year sooner."

Dad: "Well, what kind of grades did you make in your finals?"

Son: "All right in everything but one study, and in that I am like Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln."

Dad: "Why, how's that?"

Son: "I went down in history."

Chairman of the Dance Committee: "Can't you stretch the music a little—just a dance or two more?"

Orchestra Leader: "Sorry, this isn't a rubber band!"

"You want your hair parted exactly in the middle, sir?" asked the barber.

"That's what I said, didn't I?"

"Then I'll have to remove one, sir. There are only five. I'll pull the middle one out."

Wife—Can you imagine anyone going to bed with his shoes on?

Husband—Yes, my horse does.

CASTLE FOR SCRAP METAL

A companion piece to Toronto's Casa Loma in the lines of unfinished castles has been brought to light by the drive for scrap metal in New York. It is Boldt Castle on Heart Island in the St. Lawrence river, modeled after a castle on the Rhine. $2,000,000 was expended on it although it was never completed. It is being stripped of its ornamental iron and heating system, which it is estimated will give about 40 tons of metal scrap.—Toronto News.

Islands that sink out of sight as suddenly as they appear are no figment of the imagination, as worried makers of charts can testify. Falcón Island, in the Tonga group, first appeared in 1867 as a shoal. The following year smoke was observed over it. In 1885 a volcano island two miles long and 250 feet high rose from the sea during an eruption and was named Falcón Island. By 1886 it had shrunk considerably and in 1898 it disappeared, leaving only a shoal.

Sarah Ann Island, reported in 1868 as having been discovered in latitude 4 degrees north, longitude 154 degrees 22 minutes west, was claimed by the United States. Guano Company of New York as a guano island. In 1874, however, Commander J. B. Skerrett, commanding the U.S.S. Portsmouth, searched for the island in the assigned position without finding any indications of its existence. It has been shown on Hydrographic Office charts with a question mark, and lately has been entirely eliminated from charts. The presence in the Pacific of many such rising and subsiding islands, together with tidal waves following frequent submarine disturbances off the coast of South America, has caused some authorities to suggest that a great sunken Pacific continent, still subsiding, forces land masses away from the South American continent.

The appearance of a new island in the northern Kurile group, as the result of a subterranean eruption, was reported in 1924. Augustin Island, in Kamishak Bay, was reported to have blown up and disappeared in the ocean during earthquake shocks which rocked the region around Anchorage, Alaska, in the spring of 1933. The position of Bouvet Island, which lies in the South Atlantic, is still marked "doubtful" on charts. The island was discovered by the French naval explorer Bouvet in 1739, but could not be found later by Captain Cook. Years later it bobbed up again, whereas a neighboring island, Thompson, has disappeared and all efforts to rediscover it have failed.

Wandering islands are a menace to deep-sea mariners. In October, 1932, skippers were warned by the Hydrographic Office that officers of the Steel Voyager had sighted a floating island about half an acre in extent 1,300 miles south of San Diego. It was crowned by trees 20 feet high.

"What Is Life To You?"

(Anonymous)

To the preacher life's a sermon.
To the jolter it's a jest;
To the miser life is money.
To the loafer life is rest.
To the lawyer life's a trial.
To the poet life's a song;
To the doctor life's a patient.
That needs treatment right along.
To the soldier life's a battle.
To the teacher life's a school.
Life's a good thing to the grafter,
It's a failure to the fool.
To the man upon the engine
Life's a long and heavy grade;
It's a gamble to the gambler.
To the merchant life is trade.
Life's a picture to the artist.
To the rascal life's a fraud;
Life perhaps is but a burden.
To the man beneath the bed,
Life is lovely to the lover.
To the player life's a play.
Life may be a load of trouble
To the man upon the dreg,
Life is but a long vacation
To the man who loves his work;
Life's an everlasting effort
To shun duty, to be shirk.
To the earnest Christian with a zeal
Life's a story ever new.
Life is what we try to make it
Brother, what is life to you?

The World of Wheat

by H. G. L. Strange

There are many prairie livestock feeders who do not grow their own feeds but purchase them. This year storage space on farms and to elevators for wheat and feed grains is scarce. Livestock feeders, therefore, would be performing a good service to their fellow farmers if they would buy the feed grains they need as early as possible. By doing this, they will make more storage space available on farms enabling many farmers to store their surplus grain to better advantage. These early purchases of feed grains would also make more space available at elevators, therefore enabling farmers to haul more grain to market and to obtain cash for it.

There are likewise many livestock feeders in Eastern Canada who habitually purchase Western feed grain. If any readers of this column have friends in the East who are farmers, or livestock feeders, they might, I suggest, write to them and urge them to purchase their usual supplies of Western feed grains as quickly as possible, so helping prairie farmers better to cope with this present most difficult storage situation.

Incidentally farmers who have stocks still unthreshed but which are dry could help themselves by stacking their grain instead of threshing it.

Following factors have tended to decrease supply and increase demand: Bread grain production in Germany in 1942 is 15pc. less than last year and is 25pc. below the four year average 1935-1938—Europe's wheat crop for 1942 will be much smaller than anticipated.

Following factors have tended to increase supply and decrease demand: The wheat exporting countries of the world have produced over two billion bushels in 1942... The British wheat yield this year is over 40 bushels on 2,400,000 acres as compared to pre-war yield of 36 bushels on 1,700,000 acres... The Canadian wheat crop for 1942 has exceeded the previous record of 567,000,000 bushels in 1928.

Harvesters May Still Get Sugar

Extension to November 15 of the arrangement by which farmers feeding harvest crews may obtain sugar from their retailers by signing invoices is announced by the Wartime and trade, rationing division. Late harvesting and threshing in the west has motivated the rationing division of the Board to meet the needs of both farmer and his crew. Use of invoices is a temporary plan devised for obtaining extra sugar for harvesting, since the expiration of the voucher system on October 1.

Retailers are required to preserve copies of invoices declaring extra sales of sugar to farmers for harvest gangs.

The statement must show the amount sold, the number of persons involved in each sale, for whom the sugar is supplied, the period for which the sugar is supplied with the signature and address of each purchaser. Amounts supplied must not exceed the equivalent of one ounce per man per meal, including household baking requirements.

Truck Radius Order Delayed

Postponement of the date after which trucks and private commercial vehicles must confine operations to 35 miles from the registered address, has been effected by the Administrator of Services, Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

The extension will permit heavy movements of goods which normally takes place before the onset of winter to proceed without interruption. It will give private operators an additional four weeks in which to rearrange their operations so that they can more easily comply with the provisions of the order forbidding travel beyond the 35 mile limit, on and after the last day of November.

Westcott W.I.

Westcott W.I. met at the home of Mrs. Owens Sr. on October 29th. with a good attendance.

After the business session arrangements were made to complete two Ditty bags for the Merchant Marines. One article from each member per month is being turned in to the Red Cross.

The topic for the afternoon was Education and Better Schools, and it was handled in a capable manner when Mrs. Carl Eckstrand read an article on "Canada's Hutterite Settlements". A lively discussion followed.

The social half hour was spent answering a quiz which had been prepared by Mrs. Owens.

The Safest Way to Invest Your Money*VICTORY BONDS REPAY ... Every Dollar You Invest!

When you buy Victory Bonds you are laying up for yourself the best of all investments, for back of each one is your country's solemn promise that every dollar you invest in Victory Bonds will be repaid to you in full, plus a fair rate of interest. You can borrow against them, and they are readily saleable when you need the cash. And that solemn promise of repayment in full is backed by all the vast resources of the Dominion of Canada.

When the war is over, you will want to buy all the things we must deny ourselves now. Then, your Victory Bonds will give you the money to buy all these—and your purchases will provide new employment for our boys when they come home again.

What's your share of the savings job? Well, the average Canadian would have to lend to Canada to meet Canada's need $1 in every $5 of income left after taxes and compulsory savings have been collected. But the average may not fit your case. Your own circumstances are distinctly your own. You may be able to do better both out of your current income and out of your accumulated savings in the bank—or you may not be able to reach the average. Your share of voluntary savings is every dollar you can possibly spare.

HOW TO BUY

Give your order to the Victory Loan salesman who calls on you. Or place it in the hands of any branch of any bank, or give it to any trust company. Or send it to your local Victory Loan Headquarters. Or you can authorize your employer to start a regular payroll savings plan for you. Bonds may be bought in denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000 and larger. Salesman, bank, trust company or your local Victory Loan Headquarters will be glad to give you every assistance in making out your order form.

SEEDTIME
HARVEST
By
Dr. K. W. Neatby
Director, Agricultural Department
North-West Line Elevators Association

Seed Supplies

The varieties which make up our wheat, oat, barley and flax crops have changed with extraordinary rapidity during the past few years. The changes have nearly all been improvements, and for this we must thank the plant breeders and other agricultural scientists. Since pure stocks of some varieties will not be equal to the demand, now is the time to begin thinking about purchases.

A farmer may be obliged to obtain new seed because the quality of his own is inferior. It may be frozen, sprouted, shrunken, etc.; or replacement may be necessary as a result of mixtures or weed seeds which cannot be removed. In such cases, replacement may be made with pure seed of the same variety. The sooner orders are placed, the easier it will be to get really first-class stocks.

If a different variety is required, the farmer may know exactly what he wants. Even though he does, it is a good plan to consult the Provincial Department of Agriculture, Field Crops Branch, or the Provincial University or nearest Dominion Experimental Farm. You are certain to get helpful information since these organizations are well posted on the latest experimental results.

Elevator agents of Line Elevator Companies associated with this Department are authorized distributors of seed for Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta Crop Improvement Associations. As soon as official variety recommendations are available, they will be in elevator agents' offices.

Jim SaysIT CAN Be DONE

Jim finds times hard. His standard of living has dropped. There are all these new taxes.

Now there's another Victory Loan and Jim is expected to subscribe.

"Rock bottom!" was Jim's first thought
"We're on rock bottom. Just can't find the money!"

He's thought some more since. And he's decided it can be done. Jim says he doubts if Merritt lost much time wondering if it could be done when he crossed the bridge at Dieppe

WHISTLER WAS LATE

It was seldom that Oscar Wilde encountered anyone who could match his own supreme, never-failing, self-assurance. But in James McNeil Whistler, the artist, he found one man who could. When Wilde was planning his wedding he invited Whistler to attend. Came the hour for the ceremony and the artist had not arrived. Just as he was about to proceed to the altar the shaky bridegroom received a telegram reading: "Am detained. Don't wait." It was signed "Whistler."

C.P. Engineer Signs

First man on the Canadian Pacific Railway's Portage division to sign up for Canada's Third Victory Loan was Tom Fleming (right), veteran engineer who pilots the Brandon local between Winnipeg and the Wheat City. Signing him up is George McDonald (left), another veteran of the engine service who is chairman of Local 76, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Mr. McDonald, as chairman of the C.P.R.'s local Victory Loan committee in Winnipeg, is one of 3,500 volunteer workers in Manitoba who are soliciting employees of business houses in promoting the drive.

Industrial Achievement

War Output Of Britain Is Something To Be Proud Of

The English are always so critical of themselves and enjoy so much the legend of their own inefficiency, that the world even yet has not realized the miracle of industry achieved in their little island.

As the London Observer says, the world still thinks of England in terms of dukes and flower shows. It does not know that 47,000,000 people, constantly bombed, this year equaled the war output of the whole of German Europe.

In the last 18 months the output of aircraft has more than doubled, of war stores trebled, of war transport quadrupled. Output per worker in the munitions industry has risen by a third and, says the Observer, "it is probably true that in spite of Henry Ford and Harry J. Kaiser and their prodigies of mass production, the productivity of the British war worker is still higher than of his American counterpart."—Vancouver Sun.

Origin Of The Blanket

How An Englishman Discovered A New Bed Covering

Necessity mothered one of the world's most useful inventions one cold winter night in 1340, when a once-wealthy Englishman grown very poor searched among his scanty effects for a bed covering with which to keep himself warm. The only thing he could find was a piece of rough, bulky, unfinished cloth.

This cloth he proceeded to wrap about himself, and was pleasantly surprised to find how warm and comfortable it felt. Inventive by nature, this man, Thomas Blanket by name, was quick to recognize the value of this covering, and soon brought into general use the handy article we now know as the blanket.

Tribute To A Friend

J. C. KIRKWOOD

John Campbell Kirkwood, Toronto, is a writer on advertising so well known across Canada that his initials alone, "J.C.K.", is his signature.

Two weeks ago they invited him to a tea at the National Club and presented a whopping big check and a Book of Remembrance, being a red morocco volume, 10x13, front gold embossed, and containing nice words from hundreds of admirers from coast to coast.

It was a timely gesture, because back of it all was a sincere admiration for John Kirkwood, the man.

Unselfish, kindly, helpful to old and young, in the advertising world he has reached the age of three score and ten (plus) shedding an aura of goodwill to everyone with whom he contacted.

He started, as so many successful men do, in a small town (Brampton, Ont.) writing ads for his father's grocery at the rate of 150 a year, then went to the U.S.A. He came back to Canada, then over to England on the "Daily Mail". He returned to Canada, then England called him again and finally in 1930 he became editor of "Marketing" in Toronto and settled for good in the Dominion.

Perhaps J.C.K. is best understood in his reply to the presentation committee when he quoted:

"What I spent, I had,
What I saved, I lost,
What I gave, I have."

His ability to store away facts in his mind for future reference, his deep study of human nature, and his power to find some good in every man and every situation has kept him serene through the years and enabled him to counsel and guide numerous young people of both sexes who wanted to enter an advertising career—all without thought of remuneration other than "thanks" from the recipient.

I have known John Kirkwood thirty odd years. I am proud to be called his friend. He has helped me simply by being a friend, as he has thousands of others.

If we could multiply the J.C.K.'s of this world, all troubles could be settled amicably, because they wouldn't quarrel, but reason matters out without thought of politics, profit or position. May I someday deserve to be ranked in the same class as a man, with J.C.K. May he long continue to be a force for good in his chosen profession. That is the earnest wish of all who know him, including the writer. PRATT KUHN.

Magnificent Gesture

How A British Pilot Saved A German Who Was Shot Down

In marked contrast with the enemy's habit of machine-gunning defenceless airmen is this act of chivalry enacted by a British fighter-pilot during a raid over Malta. It was mentioned in a recent dispatch from that famous island in these words: The pilot saw a German fighter aircraft shot down and the enemy pilot bail out into the sea. He threw his rubber dinghy from the cockpit, and when it hit the water the German was able to scramble into it and was then saved by an R.A.F. launch. In making this gesture the British pilot knew that he was throwing away his own chance of survival in the event of being shot down himself.

HALFWAY HOUSE

MICHAEL TRENT

CHAPTER III.

Static quiet came between them, and Anne Lowry felt within herself the nerve-taut desperation. Erich Kruger once again showed. The lonely road, the dark forest it bisected, seemed suddenly a hostile spot. The night might hide watching eyes.

"Anne, I beg you—help me," he said. "I am a stranger here, no man for the mountains and woods. If I was ever your friend—" He broke off, leaned so close his dark unshaven face was inches from hers. "I do not like to beg a favor, nor say that you are obligated to me—"

He broke off and this time was silent, letting the implication play its suggestion in the mind of Anne Lowry. He was reminding her of a debt, one he perhaps had never meant to ask repaid, and it was such an enormous debt that payment should be forthcoming without demand. Anne had never forgotten. . . . It had been more than three years ago, when her father lay ill, dying of fever, and all hope had been gone. And then Erich Kruger came. Anne remembered how he had brushed aside the inept doctor who could do nothing against the unknown fever.

Erich had said, "There is one man who can save his life. My father. . . . And Anne would never forget that unauthorized flight, that merry flight to Venezuela, nor how at the flight's end Doctor Kruger had found a faint spark of life and fanned it with infinite patience and singular skill until Drew Lowry lived. . . . All that Erich Kruger now recalled, reminding Anne that there was a debt—a debt that now could be paid.

Anne said, "How can I help you, Erich?" And she saw how that made him relax. He thrust the gun into the pocket of the rough denim jacket he wore.

"You have a house near by?" he asked.

"I live at the hotel, at Halfway House. Father and I operate it, you see."

"A hotel?" He was thinking aloud. "It might do. I could be a guest. They would not look for me as a guest except for my clothes. Perhaps you could get me some suitable attire, Anne. I would not be long with you. Once the hue and cry has died down, I shall make my way to Mexico. There I will find friends who will help me get back home, to South America, where I can join my father and be safe. I want only to be safe, Anne—" His voice broke, recovered quickly. "I have gone through so much, suffered so greatly. . . ."

A question loomed giganticly in Anne's mind. What great trouble was he in? Why was he hunted? Had he committed some ugly crime? She could not bring herself to ask, seeing how desperate he was, and he did not mean to tell her.

"I'll take you to the hotel, Erich," she said. "Dad will know what to do. You will be safe there, for as long as he thinks you should stay."

Anne stopped the car on the road as soon as the lights of the hotel came into sight. She reached out and touched Erich's arm and he started violently and dropped his hand to the pocket holding the gun. Then seeing only her he sheepishly grinned.

"Halfway House is just ahead," she told him. "Only six employees are there. The guests do not start coming until tomorrow. I imagine everyone will be abed by now, but I'll go on ahead and see. It will be best if the help does not see you in those clothes. Wait here, Erich, and when I appear in the doorway you will know it is safe to come."

"That is good Anne," he said. "I am grateful to you."

He opened the door and got out into the darkness. He started to close the door then held it. "You would not plan to betray me?" he asked.

"There is no one more at the hotel than I have said," Anne told him. "And no telephone. I could not betray you if I wished."

"No—" His eyes, sunken and feverishly bright, appraised her. "No, you would not give me up to police." "There is not a policeman—" Anne caught herself up on that. It wasn't exactly true that there was not a policeman within miles and miles. There were the Forest Rangers over at Squaw Creek, there was—Steve Hayes.

"An idea came to you," Erich said. "An idea, yes," she admitted. "I had forgotten the Forest Rangers. They watch out for strangers. You will have to be very careful Erich."

He nodded jerkily, said, "I will watch for the signal."

Anne put the car into gear again and drove on to Halfway House. She parked the station wagon in the drive, then crossed the front verandah and entered the lobby, closing the door behind her. Her father was slouched in an armchair by the radio, which was bringing in a Hollywood show, and smoking his pipe.

"Dad, are the others gone to their rooms?" she whispered.

"Why, yes, Mrs. Bailey was last to go. She was here with me until half an hour ago." He eyed her anxiously. "Hello! Something's up. What is it?"

"Prepare yourself for a shock Drew Lowry," Anne said, forcing her voice gay. "I have an old friend out side. You'd never guess who. It's Erich Kruger!"

He stared disbelievingly. "Erich Kruger here? Oh, no. Erich's thousands of miles from here Anne," he said. A shadowy look darkened his pale thin face. "I know that for certain, Anne. You see, I kept it from you but Erich Kruger—"

"Erich Kruger," said a gruffer voice from the doorway. "Is here. He hopes he is welcome."

Anne whirled and saw that he had silently opened the door and had listened. He had followed her to the hotel—not trusting her. Lamplight was bright on his face, and now she saw how he had changed. He no longer was the youthful and carefree airline pilot; something besides time had hardened his face, thinned out his mouth, put a metallic brightness in his eyes. He closed the door behind him, came slowly into the big bare-timbered room, a squarely built and a not tall man in torn and soiled denim pants and jacket and heavy-duty shoes. He smiled, but it was a mechanical smile.

"Or am I not welcome, my old friend?" he asked. "If that is so, I shall go my way."

"No, no!" Drew Lowry exclaimed. He rose and moved to Erich, holding out his hand. "I could never turn you away, Erich. What is mine, is yours." "The police—" "We will not speak of that at once, Erich."

"Then I will say how good it is to see you again. The sight of an old friend can be as satisfying as the sight of a father—almost as pleasant as seeing a sweetheart." Erich put his arm about Drew Lowry's stooped shoulders. "You look better than three years ago, Herr Lowry. And the fraulein is so much prettier."

His use of the German words made Drew Lowry look anxiously about. He said, "Sit in that chair by the radio, Erich. It is away from the windows."

"Is it possible someone could see me in here?"

"Possible but not probable," Drew Lowry said. "Anne, switch off some of the lights. . . . It will be cozy."

Anne obeyed, and as she moved back from the light switch she heard Erich's insistent query: "Who could see? There are neighbors?"

The older man shot Anne a meaningful glance, then reluctantly said, "Erich, there was a policeman—a forest ranger, to be exact—here today looking about. He asked questions about how many people were here at Halfway House. I think it possible he knew you were somewhere in the vicinity and might have come here."

Erich nodded jerkily. "It is possible," he said dully. "I had to go to borrow a car after I crossed the Canadian border. I abandoned it close to the town where I met Anne. That was early this morning, so they would know that I am somewhere close." He lifted his hands in a pitiful pleading gesture. "If you could know what torment I have suffered, you would understand why I must not be caught, Herr Lowry. One hand extended to Drew Lowry, then the other to Anne. "Fraulein—Try to imagine yourself in my place. Think what it means to be hunted like an animal—"

Unnoticed, the radio program had given way to an eleven o'clock news broadcast. As Erich paused, the newscaster's voice filled the room. The word had a jolting impact.

CANADA'S HOUSEHOLDERS

Keep in line with timely economy.

Crown Brand Syrup in addition to its other uses, is being so generally used to supplement sugar, that the demand has increased tremendously—so that sometimes your grocer may not be able to supply you. But you'll understand why.

A great deal more "Crown Brand" is being produced this year but it cannot be expected to meet a demand resulting from a war shortage of millions of pounds of sugar.

The supply of Crown Brand Syrup, like other things, must be shared. Don't hoard—buy normally. With the help of your grocer, every effort is being made to keep you supplied with this delicious syrup.

"Canadian authorities announce that the German aviator who yesterday made a daring escape from an Alberta Province prison camp is still at large. It is thought that the man has succeeded in reaching the United States, where police and F.B.I. agents—"

Drew Lowry went and switched off the radio. The sudden quiet seemed explosive. Anne saw a chalky whiteness on Erich's face. She had not guessed until this moment, although that morning she had heard of a news broadcast telling of the escaped prisoner, that Erich Kruger was that sort of a hunted man. . . .

Squaw Creek Ranger Station stood in a forest clearing between the highway and the turbulent creek, a neat row of silver-gray buildings including the administration building, a machine shop, a warehouse, and three houses. It was marked by a big sign bearing the Forest Service pine tree emblem.

At eleven o'clock, Steve Hayes went into the dispatcher's room in the administration building for the weather reports. The reports were monotonously the same: wind, no rain, rising humidity—good weather for timber fires. There was a fire over in the next district, and the radio operator, Clint Bates, handed over a report on it. The fire was being held; it was nothing to worry about. The dispatcher removed the phones from his ears.

"Sheriff Hardy phoned a couple of minutes ago, Steve," he said. "He wants us to keep our eyes open for strangers. He thinks that escaped German aviator is wandering about Squaw Creek territory."

Here Is . . . The Blue Print !

The co-operative movement is democracy in business. As it depends on human agencies to conduct it, it can never be perfect, but it is a long way ahead of the capital stock company and the modern trust corporation.

Co-operation does not exist in law or in formula. It exists in the minds and hearts and purposes of the people. It is founded on mutual confidence and trust. With the development of these ideals people can make a success of co-operation.

The Alberta Wheat Pool is a creation of the farmers of this province. It has demonstrated its efficiency as a business organization and also its adherence to the co-operative principles. To make it a greater success than ever, it needs the interest and support of a greater number of the farm people of this province.

Gets Promotion

Lieut. Reg. (Pim) Watkin of the 14th Calgary Regiment (Tank), has been promoted to the rank of Captain. "Pim" received his promotion shortly after the Dieppe raid.

Corporal Jimmie Currie, in a recent letter to Sam Miller, states that "Pim" had received his third pip and was second in command, and that Major Fred Jenner, also of Olds, was Officer Commanding the Squadron.

"Pim" is an Olds boy, the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Watkin, and a very popular young man. The people of the town and district will be elated to learn of his promotion.
